

You are the Christ

by Rev. Stephen Towles (July 5, 2009)

You are The Christ,
A child of God,
Heir to all you can see,
A being of light,
A shining star,
A soul who yearns to be free.

The light it is within you,
Waiting to shine anew,
The light it is our beacon,
It is what you have come here to do.

You are The Christ,
An heir of God,
A light so bright and true.
You bring forth good,
For all to see,
Perhaps it is all too new.

The light it is within you,
Waiting to shine anew.
The light it is our beacon,
It is what you have come here to do.

You are the Christ,
A part of God,
An expression of the one most high.
A being of light,
A shining star,
A free will that always asks why?

The light it is within you,
Waiting to shine anew.
The light it is our beacon,
It is what you have come here to do.
